Strategic Resources Stakes Rare Earth Claims

For Immediate Release

TSX.V: UVR

September 9, 2009, Regina, Saskatchewan – Strategic Resources Inc. (“UVR” or “the Corporation”), is pleased to announce that it continues to make excellent progress on obtaining its exploration drilling permits on its uranium/vanadium project in Catron County, New Mexico. Geological data review for its uranium/vanadium project in Apache County, Arizona has now also commenced.

As a complement to these uranium/vanadium projects, Strategic Resources has now also staked a series of lode claims in Lincoln County, New Mexico. These claims are highly prospective for Rare Earth mineralization. The Rare Earth geological potential of Lincoln County, New Mexico has previously been well studied and documented by researchers from the University of Tennessee and by various researchers from the New Mexico Bureau of Mines.
